"Who kills a man kills a reasonable creature, God's image but he who destroys a good book, kills reason itself, kills the image of God, as it were, in the eye. Many a man lives a burden to the earth; but a good book is the precious life-blood of a master spirit, embalmed and treasured up on purpose to a Life beyond Life."

PREFACE.

THE first aim of a Public Library should be to meet, in what measure it may, the requirements of a large number of readers of varying tastes: specialists must, in most cases, seek elsewhere for the material they need for their work. To this principle there is, however, one exception—a Public Library seems eminently the place in which may be gathered all that relates to the locality in which it is situated, and so during the nine years which have passed since the foundation of the Minet Library, efforts have been made to gather to it, from every available source, all that relates to the history and topography, the antiquities and traditions, of the County of Surrey.

The collection is still very far from being complete, nor would a catalogue of it even now be issued, were it not for two considerations: first, that an uncatalogued collection of books is as a light hid under a bushel; and, second, that the point has been reached at which the sympathetic assistance of others becomes of real value.

Most of the works obtainable through the ordinary channels have been secured, but entrance has barely been made into what may be termed the field of minor local history. As illustrating what is included under this title, may be noted manuscripts, lectures delivered locally, transcripts and copies of inscriptions on monuments, notes on local natural history, plans, particulars of sale (old and new), et hoc genus omne. Material of this class is difficult to hear of, and seldom comes into the market: often, indeed, it is hardly known outside the district in which it was produced, where it still perhaps lies hidden, forgotten even by those who own it. As forming part of such a collection as ours may in time become, this material would best serve its proper purpose, and so live to "a life beyond life".

The method of arrangement is more particularly described in the table of contents, and in the notes prefixed to each section : generally, it is that suggested by Mr. F. A. Hyett in his admirable paper on County Bibliographies.

In addition to the printed and MS. matter included in this catalogue, the Library possesses a collection of rubbings of brasses, and another of prints and engravings relating to the County. Manuscript catalogues of these collections have been prepared, and may be consulted at the Library. The brasses alone are referred to in the present catalogue (under their proper headings in Section II.).

There is also a considerable collection of deeds, ranging in date from 1512 to 1842. These have been calendared, and an index to the Calendar forms Section VI. of this catalogue.

REGULATIONS AS TO LOANS TO OTHER FREE PUBLIC LIBRARIES IN THE COUNTY OF SURREY.

WITH a view to making the works on Surrey contained in this collection available to the county at large, the Joint Committee of the Minet Library is prepared to sanction loans of them to any Free Public Library in Surrey, duly established by Act of Parliament, on the following conditions:—

1. A written application for the loan must be made to the Clerk to the Committee by the Librarian of the Library to which the work is to be forwarded.
2. The work will be lent to the Librarian applying for it, in exchange for his personal undertaking to comply with these conditions, and to be personally responsible for the safe custody and due return of the book on demand; and that it shall not, under any circumstances, be allowed to leave the Library of which he is in charge.
3. All costs of transport, as well as of registration and insurance (should the Committee consider these latter necessary), must be defrayed by the applicant.
4. The time for which any work will be lent will be fixed by the Committee, who also reserve to themselves the right of refusing any application.

For the Committee,

C. J. COURTNEY,
Clerk and Librarian.

SECTION II.

BOOKS RELATING TO PLACES IN, AND PERSONS CONNECTED WITH, THE COUNTY.

The entries under each head are arranged as follows:—

- i. Works, in order of date, including references to articles in the Gentleman's Magazine.
- ii. Works to which no date can be assigned.
- iii. References to Papers in the Collections of the Surrey Archæological Society (vols. i.-xiv.).
- iv. References to names occurring in the Titles of the Acts of Parliament printed in Section III.
- v. Cross references to other entries in the Catalogue, as also to the MS. Catalogue of Rubbings of Brasses, and to Section IV. (Sermons).

Cross references are given as fully as possible; but, with one or two exceptions, no attempt has been made to extend them to Sections I., V. or VI. It is obvious that, in addition to the entries collected under any head in this Section of the Catalogue, the works relating to the County generally, contained in Section I., should also be consulted, while Section V. must be searched for Maps, and Section VI. for Deeds.

With respect to that portion of London which lies geographically within the County of Surrey, it must be remembered that many of the smaller districts under which entries occur below, form portions of larger areas. For example, Kennington and Brixton are a part of Lambeth, as are Dulwich and Peckham of Camberwell. In all such cases both titles should be searched.

No subheads are used, except in the case of Southwark, where the entries are so numerous as to render their adoption obligatory.

SECTION III.

ACTS OF PARLIAMENT.

The collection comprises five hundred and sixty-two Acts of Parliament relating to the County. The titles of these follow in chronological order, and are numbered consecutively. Many of the Acts relate, of course, to the same subject, but no cross references are given. These would be unnecessary, seeing that all the names, whether of persons or places, contained in the titles are entered in their alphabetical order in the preceding section. For example, there are nine Acts concerned with Westminster Bridge; these will all be found noted under "Bridges—Westminster" in the second section. The numbers following the titles denote, the first, the year of the reign, the second, the number of the Act.

Up to 39 Geo. III. all the Acts are Public, unless stated to be Private (Pr.); after that date they are Local and Personal, unless stated to be Public General (Pub. Gen.) or Private.
